Private Lesson Studio ~ Atlanta, GA

2002- Present

Owner, Instructor: By audition, wait-list status private lesson studio offering individual and group instruction on all aspects of percussion including traditional, concert instruments, world percussion, drumset, composition and improvisation, performance and audition preparation, and recording skills. Students are consistently represented at the top levels of All-State and District Honor Bands as well as local and international competitions. Many former students have earned college scholarships and pursued careers in music.

Jason Currin's All-Star Summer Percussion Camp ~ Atlanta

2005- Present

Director, Instructor: 5-day, annual summer camp for middle and high school percussion students combining technical and cultural background on hundreds of instruments from around the globe. Students experience an intense week of hands-on instruction from a team of Georgia's most respected percussion specialists and college directors. Students perform in a variety of ensembles including Brazilian samba, Caribbean steel band, Japanese taiko, West African and Middle Eastern drumming, and Stomp-style found percussion. My role as founding director requires sole responsibility for all aspects of planning and marketing the camp, managing the budget, creating and preparing all curriculum, sourcing additional instructors, instruments, insurance, facilities and catering, while keeping students engaged, challenged and enthusiastic to return year after year.

Woodward Academy ~ Atlanta

2008- 2010

Adjunct Faculty, Director of Percussion: As the Director of the Upper School World Percussion Ensemble, I taught students to prepare and perform music from the published, "standard" repertoire as well as custom-crafted pieces composed by myself or the student body. I presented school-wide clinic and master class instruction on a range of topics, including orchestral instruments and performance technique, section coaching, rhythmic and harmonic development, audition preparation and performance, and instrument maintenance. I also provided individualized instruction to students within the school's private lesson studio.

Bennett's Mill Middle School ~ Fayetteville, GA

2007- 2009

Director of Percussion: When BMMS opened in the Fall of 2007, I transferred with the FMS Band Director, and we created an award winning program from the ground, up. As Director of Percussion I was responsible for creating and coordinating all areas of percussion study, including part/section preparation for all band performances, student preparation for annual All-State and District level auditions, creating and directing the percussion ensemble, and providing individual and group instruction within the private lesson studio. Each band and percussion section consistently earned superior ratings during evaluations and festivals, and the percussion ensemble won First Place in their category when performing at the Fiestaval competition in Williamsburg, Virginia. BMMS percussionists earned higher scores in All-State auditions than all other schools in the district.

Fayette Middle School ~ Fayetteville2004- 2007

Director of Percussion: As FMS had no previous percussion program, my role was to create and coordinate all areas of percussion study, including All-State preparation, percussion ensemble, and private lesson studio. In the first year I established the FMS World Percussion Ensemble, the county's first percussion ensemble which performed in several statewide percussion festivals, competitions in Florida and Virginia, and was featured at the Georgia Music Educators Association (GMEA) conference in 2005. During my time at FMS, the percussion section consistently ranked highest amongst the district's All-State audition scores.

PROGRAM CREATION AND DEVELOPMENTAudition Preparation and Performance Workshop ~ Atlanta*2004- Present

Creator, Director: Workshop for students with special emphasis on All-State and District-level auditions and collegiate entrance/ scholarship auditions. I have prepared a curriculum consistent with the demands of the various auditions students face. As a result, students routinely earn seats in All-State and District Honor Bands. Many have received scholarships to attend the top colleges and music programs in the country.

All-Stars World Percussion Ensemble ~ Atlanta2007- Present

Founder, Director: Invitational, audition-only performing ensemble for middle and high school percussionists featured at festivals and special events throughout Georgia. I manage all aspects of communication with parents, negotiations with venues/clients, travel and touring logistics, promotional and marketing strategies. I coordinate rehearsals, arrange and compose music, provide students with instruments, and organize performances with the goal of providing students opportunities to learn and create, showcase their skills, and build lasting relationships.

Jason Currin's Ultra Terrific Udu Xylorimba, Tom Tom Gong-a-Thon ~ Fayetteville2007

Creator, Coordinator: "...A Percussion Extravaganza!!!" featuring a wide range of clinicians, performers and hosting school ensembles from across the state. As festival coordinator, I organized all performances, fundraising, benefit concerts, publicity, solicited corporate donations, directed FMS Percussion Ensemble as featured performer, and performed with some of the state's most talented percussionists. I contracted with outside vendors to provide insurance, catering, audio/visual support, travel and lodging arrangements. As the creator of the festival, I was responsible for raising nearly $10,000 (zero start-up) to make the event a reality.

Evening of Percussion ~ Mercer University, Macon, GA1997

Co-Director: Established inaugural percussion ensemble concert at the University in nearly 200 years. Responsibilities included assembling ensemble, selecting music, scheduling and conducting rehearsals. I assisted with creation of contact database and promotional mailings which led to one the University's most highly attended concerts, now an annual event.
